2.7.5: Performance of students on various assessment tasks reflects how far their initially identified learning needs are catered to.

RESPONSE :

During the admission process, the principal of the institution interacts with both parents and students to understand their needs and aspirations. Students receive counseling and guidance to ensure a smooth transition into the college. An orientation program is organized at the beginning of each academic year to familiarize new students with the course structure, internal assessment methods, curricular and cocurricular activities, as well as the rules and regulations of the institute. This program also introduces them to the various facilities available.

To identify students' hidden talents and skills, talent search programs are conducted, which help in the formation of student unions based on their respective abilities. Content analysis work and entrance tests play a significant role in assessing students' initial knowledge and skills in specific subject areas, enabling effective teaching throughout the program. Mentoring and counseling help identify the individual needs of learners and assist in developing effective classroom practices that lead to better learning outcomes.

To promote ICT skills and the adoption of modern teaching-learning techniques, students are engaged in project work, action research, preparation of online tests, ICT-based lessons, and e-content creation. This prepares them to meet the challenges of the 21st century and enhances their ICT proficiency. The institution emphasizes the observance of regional, national, and international days of importance through various club and association activities, fostering national integration and preserving the heritage of the nation.

Personality development and leadership qualities are nurtured through constructive feedback and suggestions provided by teachers. This process enhances students' self-confidence, morale, and self-esteem. Participation in diverse activities helps students develop professional values, which are essential for becoming competent teachers.

Faculty members regularly assess the learning needs of students through class tests and house exams. Performance is evaluated based on the scores obtained in these assessments. Students who score lower are provided with additional assistance to improve their academic performance. The institute conducts remedial classes in various subjects for weak students, focusing on enhancing their skills and competencies. Slow learners are identified based on their performance in class tests and house exams, and they receive remedial teaching to bridge any learning gaps. Students are provided with reading material, and they are assigned written assignments and exercises. Remedial examinations are conducted to evaluate the knowledge acquired during class hours.

In summary, the institution prioritizes the holistic development of students by offering counseling during admission, organizing orientation programs, conducting talent search programs, fostering ICT skills, promoting national integration, providing constructive feedback, and offering remedial support to enhance student performance. These initiatives contribute to a comprehensive learning experience and prepare students for success in the 21st century.
